The inability of the Germ Theory to satisfy the POSTULATES OF KOCH... the Virus Theory can't survive the basic requisites of scientific scrutiny to remain a theory, much less become a LAW. Dorland's Illustrated Medical Dictionary tells us that a VIRUS is a minute, infectious agent not resolved (distinguished separately by the light microscope). It is without independent metabolism and can only replicate (reproduce itself) within a living host cell. A virion is defined as a complete viral particle found outside of host cells and can survive in crystalline form and can infect a living cell. In other words, the most intelligent virus (no brain or nervous system) outwits a cell membrane (the guardian of the cytoplasm), passes into the cells interior, sneaks by the lysosomes that normally ingest and digest intracellular decayed or foreign matter, trick the ribosomes and polysomes into believing that the virus is a friendly amino acid, enters into the amino acid polypeptide chain of amino acid residues, takes over the ribosomal control (coup d'etat), reproduces itself many times over and then kicks out a virion (crystalline) to attack the adjoining cell!

Russian bacteria hunter Dimitri Iwanowski, who gathered fluid from diseased tobacco plants, achieved the first isolation of a virus in 1892. He passed this liquid through a filter fine enough to retain bacteria; yet to Iwanowski's surprise, the bacteria-free filtrate easily made healthy plants sick. In 1898, a Dutch botanist, Martinus Willem Beijerinck, repeating the experiment, also recognized that there was an invisible cause and named the infectious agent "tobacco mosaic virus." In the same year as Beijerinck, report, two German scientists purified a liquid containing filterable viruses that caused foot-and-mouth disease in cattle (viruses were at one time called filterable viruses, but eventually came to apply only to viruses, and was dropped). Walter Reed followed in 1901 with a filtrate responsible for yellow fever, and soon dozens of other "disease-causing" viruses were found. In 1935, another American, Wendell M. Stanley, went back to the beginning and created pure crystals of tobacco mosaic virus from a filtered liquid solution. He affirmed that these crystals could easily infect plants, and concluded that a virus was not a living organism, since it could be crystallized like salt and yet remains infectious. Subsequently, bacteriologists all over the world began filtering for viruses, and a new area of biology was born-virology. Historically, medical science has vacillated on the question of whether a virus is alive. Originally it was described as nonliving, but is currently said to be an extremely complex molecule or an extremely simple microorganism, and is usually referred to as a parasite having a cycle of life. Commonly composed of either DNA or RNA cores with protein coverings, and having no inherent reproductive ability, viruses depend upon the host for replication. They must utilize the nucleic acids of living cells they infect to reproduce their proteins, which are then assembled into new viruses like cars on an assembly line. Theoretically, this is their only means of surviving and infecting new cells or hosts.

Underlying the birth of virology was the doctrine of monomorphism—that all microorganisms are fixed species, unchangeable; that each pathological type produces only one specific disease; that microforms never arise endogenously, i.e., have absolute origin within the host; and that blood and tissues are sterile under healthy conditions. Theoretically, under ideal health conditions, the blood might be sterile, though it has the inherent potential to develop morbid microforms, as discussed earlier. Long and repeated observation of live blood in the phasecontrast, dark-field microscope, however, shows that the blood can contain various microforms in an otherwise asymptomatic host, or in a condition, or in a condition defined as normal or healthy in orthodox terms. Monomorphism was the cornerstone of developments in 20th-century medical research and treatments. Refusal by the mainstream to examine fairly, much less accept, the demonstrated facts of pleomorphism—that viruses and bacteria, yeast, fungi and mold, are evolutions from microzyma; that microforms can rapidly change their form (evolve) and devolve) in vivo, one becoming another, dependent upon conditions in the biological terrain (environment); that blood and tissues are not necessarily sterile; and that there are no specific diseases, but only specific disease conditions—was the foundation of the debate. It is so called because those who wore the "robes" of scientific authority would not be swayed from folly when resented with its contrary proofs. These proofs began in earnest with Antoine Béchamp in the nineteenth-century.

In the early third of the 20th-century, the heated debate took place over filterable bacteria versus non-filterable. This was a major battle concerning micromorphology. The orthodox view prevailed: bacterial forms were not small enough to pass, or did not have a smaller, earlier stage. What passed through "bacteria-proof" filters was something else, i.e., viruses. Standard medical textbooks long made this filtering distinction between bacteria and viruses. Subsequently, however, the cellular nature of many filterable forms originally thought to be viruses, such as some mycoplasmas, rickettsias, and various other groups, has been established. With the victory of the monomorphic view, deeper understanding of infectious "disease" was lost, setting the stage for cancer, degenerative symptoms and AIDS.

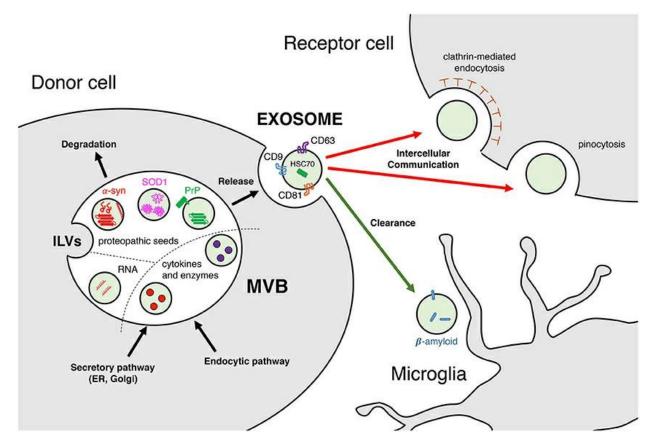

A typical bacterium is about 1 micron in size. Most filterable forms now called viruses range in size from 0.3 micron to 0.01 micron-partially in the colloidal range. Most of the larger viruses are a third to a quarter the size of the average bacterium. Size is critical because 0.3 microns is the resolution limit of modern-day light microscopes. Thus, as viruses were discovered, they required an electron microscope to be seen, especially given the fact that Royal Rife's microscope technology and career were destroyed by vested interests. Unfortunately, electron microscopes and the process of chemical staining disorganize all specimens, whereas Rife's technology allowed life to proceed and thus evolve under its lens. As viruses became visible to advancing technology, the ramification was that the technology revealed, to minds infected with monomorphism, protein structures deemed foreign to the body. What is really known about viruses is that they are, according to Biochemistry, Lubert Stryer, 2nd Edition, 1981..."the most efficient of the self-reproducing intracellular parasites." Yet, in the next sentence: "Viruses are unable to generate metabolic energy or to synthesize proteins."-It's a paradox! Maybe someday soon, with improvements in the electron microscope, we will find out that what are now being called and classified as viruses will prove to be intracellular crystallizations of protein catabolism-meaning the destructive process by which complex substances are converted into simple compounds.

The 7th edition of Russell L. Cecil's A Textbook Of Medicine (1947), said then, what is still the case today: "The nature of viruses is not yet definitely known, but certain facts appear well established. At the present time it is convenient to think of viruses as though they were obligate intracellular parasites of extremely small size." From whatever cause, when the proteinaceous structure of cellular cytoplasm is damaged, the bags of enzymes inside the cell, called lysosomes, release proteolytic enzymes that digest the dead protein of the cytoplasm. With death of the cell and disintegration of the cell nucleus, ribonuclease and deoxyribonuclease enzymes catalyze the depolymerization of RNA and DNA-providing the free strands of nucleoprotein which "mimic viruses" when viewed with the electron microscope. Volumes could be written about the assumptions, theories and hypothesis associated with immunology, the germ theory and the virus theory. Virologists today will state that the "virus" remains dormant and hidden in the body and some leading authorities reveal that these little trick-or-treaters are actually hiding in the nerve sheaths.

Exosomes are particles released from the cell; they carry RNA, toxins and cellular debris in response to various insults (toxins, stress including fear, cancer, ionizing radiation, infection, injury, many diseases, immune response and asthma). A number of virologists agree with conclusions of Dr. Andrew Kaufman that viruses are exosomes; they are the same size, the same shape, both carry RNA and both attach to the same receptors. These exosomes/viruses are the result and not the cause of illness, with primary roles of coagulation, intercellular signaling and excretion of waste materials. If 5G, by overloading the body's electrical circuitry and by high-jacking oxygen, causes injury to the lung cells, then an increased production of exosomes (wrongly called viruses) is sure to be the result—and thank goodness!

No wonder the anti-viral medications—given in the early days of the pandemic, but now abandoned—caused such terrible side effects (allergic reactions, fever, nausea, vomiting, bleeding, diabetic lactic acidosis, damage to the kidney, liver and pancreas. . . and breathing problems). These drugs suppress the body's efforts to protect itself against the poisonous effects of 5G and other toxins.

If you do a bit of surfing on the Internet, you will find that exosomes are the latest thing for diagnosis and therapy, with many medical uses—from cancer treatment, to wound healing, to hair restoration!

It's clear that we are making the same mistake with viruses that we have made with cholesterol and saturated fat—blaming a substance that is essential to life for causing disease. Just twenty years ago the medical profession "knew" that bacteria were killers—now we recognize that bacteria are essential to health. How long will it take us to learn that so-called viruses are our friends?

It's interesting to note that each wave of influenza has its own constellation of symptoms—during the Spanish flu epidemic the main problem was bleeding, the inability of the blood to coagulate; the main victims were healthy people in the prime of life, between the ages of twenty-five and forty. Today's victims are older, usually with pre-existing conditions. The main symptom of today's outbreak seems to be hypoxia, akin to high altitude sickness.

Please watch this video by Dr. Cameron Kyle-Sidell, working on the front lines in New York City. Says Kyle-Sidell, "We've never seen anything like it!" The afflicted are literally gasping for air. In fact, the ventilators that the hospitals have scrambled to obtain do more harm than good and may be accounting for the high mortality rate. These patients don't need help breathing—they need more oxygen when they take a breath. This is not the sign of a contagious disease but of a disruption of our mechanisms for producing energy and getting oxygen to the red blood cells.

So is corona virus a contagious bad guy? Remember that researchers could not show that the dreadful Spanish flu was contagious. The fact that viruses are actually helpful exosomes, and that many who test positive are symptom-free, makes their role as a perpetrator highly unlikely. To settle this question once and for all, we need to do the same contagion studies that proved non-contagion in 1918. I'd be happy to be the first volunteer.

Covid Virus?

According to a seemingly non-controversial statement in Wikipedia a virus is:

"... a submicroscopic infectious agent that replicates only inside the living cells of an organism. Viruses infect all types of life forms, from animals and plants to microorganisms, including bacteria and archaea."

There is wide scientific consensus that a virus is neither living or dead, but is an agent that requires a living cell to replicate, and it will cause infection and disease. Indeed, the peer-reviewed medical literature affirms that a virus is often referred to as a "parasite." [1]

But during this insane pandemic dissenting researchers have come to the fore to argue that in empirical science no such 'deadly virus' has been reproduced in a laboratory. Freedom of Information (FOIA) requests to governments further show that none will claim they can demonstrate in the lab that SARS-CoV-2 is the causative agent of infection.

For example, 'UK's Govt Office For Science Admits No Proof Of Isolated 'COVID-19 Virus", 'The Non-Existent Virus; And The Implications' Even CDC Now Admits No 'Gold Standard' Of COVID19 Virus Isolate',

In 2020, Principia Scientific International was the world's first independent science association to declare there was no LAB proof of COVID19. Their expert in this field, Dr Saeed Qureshi, was at the forefront of calling out the fraud.

So, is virology in a mess over this? Principia Scientific International shares with readers some of their concerns on the key issues.

Crucially, as a science association strongly supportive of empiricism and the traditional scientific method (as extolled by Karl Popper) we question why modern medicine seems to have abandoned the standard measure of proving the existence of a disease – Koch's postulates.

To our way of thinking Koch's postulates appears to have been abandoned during the current pandemic. Not lost on us is the worrisome lack of post mortems being performed on so called victims of COVID19.

Even at the height of the Spanish Flu epidemic of 1918 evidence gathering via pathology was key. But now pathology is being bypassed in what seems a rush to accept an unproven panacea – mass vaccination with experimental gene therapy (mRNA).

When post mortems are carried out on supposed 'COVID19 victims' the results prove no such cause of death, as they showed in 'Top Pathologist: 'NO ONE Has Died From The Coronavirus!'

The A high-profile European pathologist, Dr. Stoian Alexov called the World Health Organization (WHO) a "criminal medical organization" for creating worldwide fear and chaos without providing objectively verifiable proof of a pandemic.

Dr. Alexov, Bulgarian Pathology Association (BPA) president added that with no hard evidence to prove the existence of any deadly virus it is "impossible" to create a vaccine against it.

Meanwhile, in the UK speaking to the Daily Record Scotland's most eminent pathologist, Tony Busuttil, emeritus professor of forensic medicine at Edinburgh University, said:

"Without Post-Mortems, We Can't Really Say For Sure What Has Gone On And Why The Patient Has Died And If We Are To Combat The New Virus, We First Have To Understand Its Effects."

In these dark days we lament the sweeping abandonment of the scientific method of replication and of demonstrating a cause and effect, as government 'experts' seemingly rush to chop and change medical policies on the fly and where 'the cure is worse than the disease' becomes our ultimate nightmare.

The problems inherent in nations efficaciously tackling a pandemic and providing a coordinated medical response have been known to science since 1918 at the height of the Spanish Influenza epidemic and yet the medical science establishment prefers not to acknowledge this because to do so would likely invalidate a major cornerstone of allopathic germ theory.

Yet even New Scientist admits that:

"Medical And Scientific Experts Now Agree That Bacteria, Not Influenza Viruses, Were The Greatest Cause Of Death During The 1918 Flu Pandemic." [2]

On this issue, have a read of 'The Truth About The 1918 'Viral Influenza' Pandemic.'

Germ Theory views the human body as an uninfected biological system that must be defended against external attack. For over a century, Big Pharma has made big bucks from selling us potions to fend off 'infections' while denying the reality that a healthy immune system is the body's own defense against disease (i.e prevention is better than cure).

As a seasoned professional science writer I have spent over a decade working with scientists to expose the lies about man-made global warming. That nonsense was premised on the false hypothesis, conceived in the minds of second rate academics, that a benign trace atmospheric gas, carbon dioxide – one of nature's best cooling gases and widely used in industry as a refrigerant – somehow 'traps heat' and dangerously warms our planet.

Thankfully, a significant number of honest, empirical scientists have since abandoned that nonsense.

But correcting such entrenched misunderstandings can take decades of dedicated skeptical analysis and cold, hard critical reasoning to overturn a deeply-held visceral belief, a false scientific notion.

As such, just as with the false greenhouse gas theory of supposed CO2 warming, so with the consensus about virus theory which is now being methodically overturned despite the best efforts of corrupt politicians and corporations.

It is becoming harder for germ theory zealots to persuasively argue against the proposition that if a virus cannot be proven to be the agent for the transmission of disease, then the entire rational for lockdowns, social distancing and mask wearing to ward off infection should be consigned to history as an almighty public policy misstep based on junk science.

Among the most strident and highly qualified medical experts leading the paradigm shift is Dr. Andrew Kaufman whose research shows COVID-19 is an exosome which exists normally in our lung cell fluid. Dr Kaufman is a medical doctor, graduated in molecular Biology from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and involved in cancer medication and in medical data collection with the New York Health department and the CDC, then later specialized in psychiatry.

An excellent discussion by Kaufmann and medical colleagues on the issues is in this video (Is Covid-19 Really an Exosome and not a Virus?):

In his presentation Dr Kaufmann correctly asserts that the COVID19 virus (Sars-Cov-2) has never been isolated. This is borne out by the numerous freedom of information (FOIA) requests to leading western governments who all admit their scientists possess no 'gold standard' isolate of the virus.

Of course, this is devastating to the claims of the pandemic fear-mongers because Dr Kaufmann goes on to explain how the ubiquitous PCR test used to 'detect' the virus is less than useful and was never designed as a diagnostic tool.

For well over a year we have endured the insanity of doctors using flawed PCR tests and erroneously 'detecting' a virus that is not proven to exist in science which then is used to justify a 'vaccine' not tailored to defeat a virus that has not been isolated! Circular insanity, if you will.

My success as a skeptic writer on the man-made global warming narrative has guided my research into this fascinating subject and the potential ramifications for the survival of humanity are no less dire.

Therefore the $64,000 question to governments and Big Pharma is: Wouldn't you have to sequence the virus (obtain a 'gold standard' isolate) before you can make a PCR test for it and then a vaccine to effectively fight it?

Of course, no bribed/blackmailed/coerced quack, politician or mainstream media 'journalist' will ever come out to seriously answer this question and encourage open and honest debate.

But any good skeptic would want to uncover evidence antithetical to the points that Dr Kaufman raised, like an actual experiment that shows through the scientific method, that viruses are contagious pathogens spread from one person to another. Dr Kaufmann et al assert no such empirical science exists.

Though what other colleagues and myself at Principia Scientific International have found is that the PCR test may be the root of a mass deception because if it is run through too many cycles (25+) it will simply begin to tell you that almost any tiny remnants of RNA will create a false positive for COVID19.

This is why some fruits, goats, tap water, Coca-Cola and eventually ANYTHING are testing to be PCR positive but are false positives from a flawed test protocol (see: Some Fruit And A Goat Now Test COVID-19 Positive).

In our wider discussions on germ theory we asked such questions as: How does Polio spread if not by virus? Why has Smallpox been eradicated? In answer, we deduced that a key factor in modern disease eradication has been vast improvements in sanitation, infrastructure and hygiene. http://www.whale.to/vaccines/decline1.html

"The decline in infectious diseases in developed countries had nothing to do with vaccinations, but with the decline in poverty and hunger."—Dr Buchwald, M.D.

"Up to 90% of the total decline in the death rate of children between 1860-1965 because of whooping cough, scarlet fever, diptheria, and measles occured before the introduction of immunisations and antibiotics."—Dr Archie Kalokerinos, M.D.

Many such doctors and researchers have found that polio was caused by lead, mercury, and/or other types of chemical pollution, and then unscrupulous bad actors falsely blamed such poisoning on a virus so to avoid responsibility, as well as to fill the bank accounts of big pharma.

By doing your own research you will also uncover that the same type of misleading hypocrisy has been repeated for many other conditions which were more likely due to toxic pollution, but falsely blamed on viruses. https://theinfectiousmyth.com/polio-timeline.html

The thrust of what Dr Kaufmann and germ theory skeptics are saying is that while the COVID 19 pandemic has certainly put huge focus on detecting corona particles, they are not the CAUSE, they are the RESULT of disease.

They argue that the so-called current outbreak could be a mix of things including another unidentified influenza instead of the hype over a new corona virus particle.

Yet, even a non-scientist can simply examine the excess mortality data for the past 18 months and contrast and compare the data with death rates for the last 20 or 30 years and see for themselves that there is NOTHING unusual happening.

Death rates are, in fact, currently LOWER in many regions than in previous years. This is 'Why We Must Question The COVID 19 Mortality Statistics.'

Senior Principia Scientific International scientist, Dr Saeed Qureshi addresses this issue in his article 'Did COVID Cause 'Excess Deaths?' where he shows, inter alia, that CDC numbers for excess deaths in 2020 show a 0.14% increase in the expected annual death numbers, well within normal variation. If anything 'Covid-19 Vaccines Lead To New Infections And Mortality'

Are Viruses Really Exosomes?

Have you heard of the emerging theory of what viruses might be: exosomes?

Are you absolutely certain that COVID-19 is contagious?

How confident are you in the results from the test?

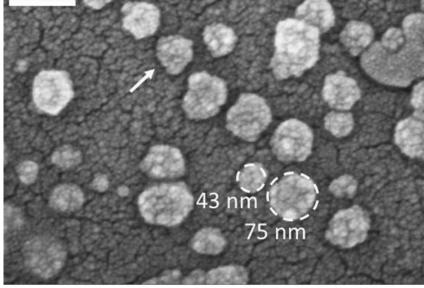

Most of the case studies come from this paper by David Crowe, where he has all of his citations at the end: https://theinfectiousmyth.com/book/Co...

Look hard enough and you will see qualified scientists saying that exosomes are often indistinguishable from viruses. Exosomes are the same size as viruses (0.1 microns)—they do vary a little – but are mostly similar. They are secreted by cells and are extracellular vesicles that transport messages between cells to inform each other when they are in danger. [3]

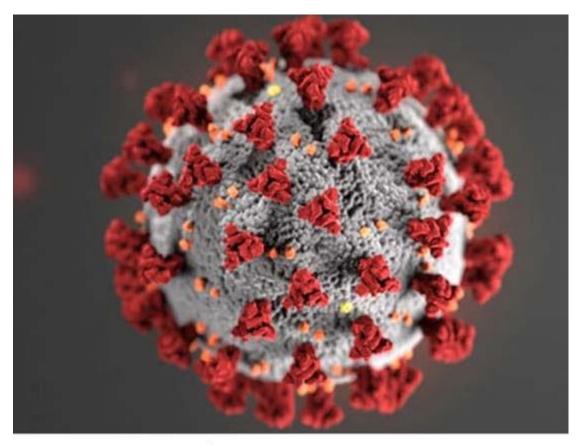

Do Your Eyes Deceive You?

Look at the images below. Are they images of viruses or exosomes? Would you know the difference or do you rely on a government 'expert' to help you out?

which of the above are exosomes, which are viruses

This is NOT a virus, it is a computer simulation

Dr. Stefan Lanka, virologist and molecular biologist, is mostly known internationally as an "AIDS dissident" (and maybe "gentechnology dissident") who has been questioning the very existence of "HIV" since 1994. He is a controversial figure vilified by the mainstream media (often a sign a 'white hat' is over the target exposing evil).

Although we used a Wikipedia quote at the top of this article it is worth noting that Wikipedia has banned Stephan Lanka's page. Indeed, it also refuses to permit any entry for Principia Scientific International despite our 7,000+ STEM members and being a bona fide science association for over a decade.

For more than a year Wikipedia redirected 'Lanka' searches to a page on "HIV/AIDS denialism". Now it redirects to some quack named David Bardens. To our way of thinking, this is pretty good evidence that the establishment fears Dr. Lanka. For your edification do check out the Wikipedia list of "germ theory denialists" and verify the qualifications of those cited: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_germ_theory_denialists

Dr. Lanka is certainly a thorn in the side of consensus thinkers and signaled a possible paradigm shift away from germ theory when he made his almost "legendary" Zenger's interview:

"So, For A Long Time I Studied Virology, From The End To The Beginning, From The Beginning To The End, To Be Absolutely Sure That There Was No Such Thing As HIV. And It Was Easy For Me To Be Sure About This Because I Realized That The Whole Group Of Viruses To Which HIV Is Said To Belong, The Retroviruses – As Well As Other Viruses Which Are Claimed To Be Very Dangerous – In Fact Do Not Exist At All."

Dr Lanka and others have suggested that one of the keys to facilitate a mass deception about viruses was via the technology of the electron microscope which has radically affected modern medicine over the past 60 years. It is substantially thanks to electron microscopy that virology has been so persuasive. But all may not be as as it seems!

Questioning the iconic images of viruses we see splashed all over the media and in medical journals, Dr Lanka said:

"All These Photos Have In Common That They, Respectively The Authors, Can'T Claim That They Represent A Virus, As Long As They Do Not Also Provide The Original Publications Which Describe How And What From The Virus Has Been Isolated. Such Original Publications Are Cited Nowhere.

Indeed, In The Entire Scientific Medical Literature There'S Not Even One Publication, Where The Fulfillment Of Koch'S First Postulate Is Even Claimed For Such Viruses. This Means That There Is No Proof That The Viruses Held Responsible For These Diseases Have Been Isolated From Humans Afflicted By Them. Nevertheless, This Is Precisely What They Publicly Claim."

It may yet be proven that vaccines per se may not be the solution to disease eradication because it may be shown that immunity does not come from antibodies. Antibodies are regulating agents. They are merely white blood cells that regulate infection, and thus, the healing process. Viruses may thus be shown to be simply part of the healing phase.

As explained at www.vaccinationinformationnetwork.com we should be skeptical of these images because:

- 1. Many of the photos are colored. This is proof enough, that they are the (art)work of designers, because electron microscopic photos always appear in black and white.
- 2. The images of the so called HIV-, measles (Masern)- and smallpox (Pocken) viruses clearly show, as the image descriptions partly already indicate, that these are cells wherein the viruses can allegedly be found. Thus, nothing has been isolated. The photos actually show cells and typical endogenous particles in them. These structures are well known and serve the intra- and inter-cellular transport. Unlike viruses of the same kind which are consistently the same size and same shape they differ in size and shape and therefore can 't have been isolated.
- 3. In the case of the influenza- herpes-, vaccinia-, polio-, adeno- and ebola- viruses each photo shows only a single particle; nobody claims that they re isolated particles, let alone particles that have been isolated from humans.

These particles are partially the cellular particles mentioned above (#2) resp. typical artifacts which means: structures that accrue after inappropriate fixing and drying of the probes, while being prepared for the electron microscope.

- 1. The "isolated" polio viruses are artificial particles, generated by suction of an indifferent mass through a very fine filter into a vacuum. Its structure (no characteristic structures) differ clearly from the ones of the "viruses" in the cells. Here the information is essential that a biochemical characterization of those "isolated" viruses, although "isolation" is claimed, has never been published anywhere nor has anybody even claimed such a characterization.
- 2. The photo of the hepatitis B "viruses" does not show isolated structures, but as the image title already says, an agglutinate. This is the scientific/medical term for proteins from the blood that are clumped together, as is typical for coagulations. Typically, round and also crystal structures accrue depending on the condition of the blood sample as a consequence

"In summary, it must be said that these photos are an attempt of fraud committed by the researchers and medical scientists involved, as far as they assert that these structures are viruses or even isolated viruses. To what extent the involved journalists and authors of textbooks have contributed to this fraud knowingly or only out of gross negligence, I don't know. Everyone who starts researching the medical literature, will quickly encounter statements and references that Koch's first postulate can't be fulfilled (i.e. Großgebauer: Eine kurze Geschichte der Mikroben, 1997 ["A short history of the microbes"]; editor: Verlag für angewandte Wissenschaft). How these authors who claim the existence of viruses could overlook that, remains a riddle." [4]

Pro-vaccine advocates will obviously try to discredit Dr Lanka's analyses, mostly because it undermines much of what we think we know about AIDS. However, Lanka has proven his mettle already by winning a benchmark court case in Germany, which seems to validate his science (image below).

Biologist Proves Measles Isn't A Virus, Wins Supreme Court Case Against Doctor

In a recent ruling, judges at the German Federal Supreme Court (BGH) confirmed that the measles virus does not exist. Furthermore, there is not a single scientific study in the world which could prove the existence of the virus in any scientific literature. This raises the question of what was actually injected into millions over the past few decades.

In the informative video below Dr. Thomas Cowan discusses Virology with Dr. Stefan Lanka:

If the above video was of interest, check out the video below with the excellent Catherine Austin Fitts wherein Dr. Thomas Cowan suggests alternatives to the "germ theory" of disease and depicts Louis Pasteur, the leading proponent of germ theory, as a fraud.

Jeff Green is another emerging writer and researcher in this field and he tells us:

"People tell me all the time that they've gotten sick from their loved one, or they caught this virus or that virus from their loved one. I tell them that is what I term the 'Illusion of Viral Activity'. This is because viruses and bacteria are cyclical in nature, occurring at the same time in the majority of the population each year. This happens because the body, on a cyclical basis, dumps mass stored toxins after a certain accumulation occurs over a period of time." [5]

Like Dr Kaufmann Jeff Green points to the seasonality of so many mass 'infections' which occur every year; sometimes milder, sometimes stronger.

Kaufmann, Green et al. argue that seasonal variations in temperature and climate bring about the necessary signals for our bodies to begin a cyclical cleansing processes.

"When you have households that live together, they almost always eat the same foods, drink the same water, and breathe the same air; sharing identical habits. It is common for them to have similar detoxification times, therefore they will experience cold or flu around the same time. This does not mean viruses are contagious. Viruses and bacteria are not contagious. No virus is, " says Green. [id.]

Where thinkers like Green and Kaufmann differ is regarding the difference between exosomes and viruses. Kaufmann goes as far as to say viruses may not even exist. Green believes they do.

Though critics of germ theory often do agree as to why we have a flu season—because changes in humidity, lack of sunlight in winter brings about bodily changes at the cellular level. 'Flu season' may therefore have to be re-named as 'Low Vitamin D season.'

It is perfectly conceivable that bacteria (or virus) become manifest in winter in order to disassemble and break toxins down to be excreted from the body—via skin, mucus, respiratory system, and bowels. Coughing, sneezing, high fever symptoms associated with influenza may be all part of the body's detox process. Many of us simply happen to detox at the same time seasonally and/or at times of extreme stress.

People have long bought into an illusion and believe influenza is contagious—that is the nature of mankind; they're easily self-deceived by coincidences.

As Green tells us, health is rife with such mis-observations because it cannot be directly seen. Therefore, the answer is not obvious at first and is a complex puzzle for those that do not understand the nature of the body.

In reality it is no different than bears coming out of hibernation, or trees blossoming at the same time. Most do not all come out on the same day, but they gradually do so one after the other. In short, we should learn to focus on building a strong immune system and be wary of snake oil salesmen in Big Pharma foisting on us unproven potions for mythical diseases when the real cure is prevention through proper nutrition, avoiding stress and a healthy lifestyle.

Rest assured, this won't be the last word on this evolving story. Many bad actors hold key positions in authority and are invested in maintaining the status quo. Only by concerted wider public action will the fraud be fully revealed and the masses awakened.

During a COVID-19 EU hearing, Pfizer's president of international developed markets, Janine Small, admitted that the vaccine had never been tested on its ability to prevent transmission, contrary to what was previously advertised.

Robert "Rob" Roos, a politician from the Netherlands who is also a member of the European Parliament, exposed the lie that people from all over the world had been led to believe.

"If you don't get vaccinated, you're antisocial. This is what the Dutch prime minister and health minister told us. You don't get vaccinated just for yourself, but also for others. You do it for all of society, that's what they said. Today, this turned out to be complete nonsense. "Roos said in his viral bombshell video posted on Twitter.

"In a COVID hearing in the European Parliament, one of the Pfizer directors just admitted to me at the time of introduction, the vaccine had never been tested on stopping the transmission of the virus," Roos said.

In one of the most atrocious crimes against humanity, all the governments worked together with big pharma and big tech to deceive the general public into taking the COVID shot.

They lied to us. They coerced millions of people into being vaccinated on the lie of preventing transmission.

"This removed the entire legal basis for the covert passport. The COVID passport that led to massive institutional discrimination as people lost access to essential parts of society. I find this to be shocking, even criminal," Roos added.

During the hearing, when asked by Ross if the Pfizer COVID vaccine tested on stopping the transmission of the virus before it entered the market, Janine Small responded while smiling:

"Regarding the question around did we know about stopping immunization before it entered the market? No. We have to really move at the speed of science to really understand what is taking place in the market."

Watch the video below:

Rob Roos joined Tucker Carlson to discuss this explosive testimony in the EU Parliament.

Rob Roos described the seriousness of this revelation.

MP Rob Roos: It really was a special moment. For the first time, Pfizer admitted that the vaccine was not tested on stopping the transmission of the virus when it entered the market. And this has massive implications. Governments pushed millions of people worldwide to get vaccinated by telling them to do it for your grandmother. And they took perfectly healthy young people into taking this jab using false arguments. And they used big words such as antisocial to sew an immense hatred against people who refused to comply with the government's wishes. And even worse, many governments, including mine, actually introduced so-called COVID passports. These passports made access to parts of society conditional. Those who did not wish to get vaccinated lost that access, not being able to visit a restaurant or a gym, all in the name of public health. Our governments love to talk about institutional discrimination, but this was real institutional discrimination. In many countries, like the US and Italy, vaccine mandates were introduced for certain professions. Many people lost their job, their livelihoods, their businesses because they stood by their principles. Austria even had a lockdown for the infection and because of this reason, the government literally imprisoned people within their own homes.

All of this was based on the idea that the vaccination helped prevent the spread of the virus. Otherwise, why should people be kept out of society? But this has now proven to be a big lie. Even the President for International Development Markets of Pfizer now admits that there was no scientific basis to say the vaccination would stop the transmission of the virus. And I find this one of the biggest scandals of our time. The politicians responsible for this will be angry that people are looking back at this time, but I won't forget what they did to millions of people. And if we are a democracy, we should have accountability. And that's what I'm calling for.

Pfizer knew about the BIG LIE and said NOTHING.

So when do the human rights tribunals begin?
When are the people behind the BIG LIE held responsible for their mass destruction.

The Rockefeller Institute And The Criminal Polio Fraud

Written by Vanessa Beeley | Published on October 18, 2022

The fraudulent "scientific" study of biological viruses created by the Rockefeller medical cabal. The corrupt model of modern medicine is an epidemic based on fear, not viruses or bacteria. One of the outcomes of the alleged new SARS Covid virus that publicly emerged in 2019 is that the medical specialization of virology has been raised to a stature almost Godlike in the media. Few understand the origins of virology and its elevation into a leading role in today's medicine practice. For this we need to look at the origins and politics of America's first medical research institute, the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, today Rockefeller University, and their work on what they claimed was a polio virus.

In 1907 an outbreak of a sickness in New York City gave the director of the Rockefeller Institute, Simon Flexner, MD, a golden opportunity to lay claim to discovery of an invisible "virus" caused by what was arbitrarily called poliomyelitis. The word poliomyelitis simply means inflammation of the spinal cord's grey matter. There were some 2,500 New Yorkers, mostly children, designated with some form of poliomyelitis, including paralysis and even death, that year.

Flexner's Fraud

The most striking aspect of the entire polio saga in the USA during the first half of the 20th Century was the fact that every key phase of the business was controlled by people tied to what became the Rockefeller medical cabal. This fraud started with claims by the Director of the Rockefeller Institute, Simon Flexner, that he and his colleague, Paul A. Lewis, had "isolated" a pathogen, invisible to the eye, smaller even than bacteria, which they claimed caused the paralyzing sickness in a series of outbreaks in the US. How did they come to this idea?

In a paper published in 1909 in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Flexner claimed he and Lewis had isolated the poliomyelitis virus responsible. He reported they had successfully "passaged" poliomyelitis through several monkeys, from monkey to monkey. They began by injecting diseased human spinal cord tissue of a young boy who had died, presumably from the virus, into the brains of monkeys. After a monkey fell ill, a suspension of its diseased spinal cord tissue was injected into the brains of other monkeys who also fell ill.

They proclaimed that the Rockefeller Institute doctors had thus proven poliomyelitis virus causality for the mysterious disease. They hadn't done anything of the sort. Flexner and Lewis even admitted that:

"We failed utterly to discover bacteria, either in film preparations or in cultures, that could account for the disease; and, since among our long series of propagations of the virus in monkeys not one animal showed, in the lesions, the cocci described by some previous investigators, and we had failed to obtain any such bacteria from the human material studied by us, we felt that they could be excluded from consideration."

What they then did was to make a bizarre supposition, a leap of faith, not a scientific claim. They took their hypothesis of viral exogenous agency and made it fact, with no proof whatever. They asserted: "Therefore, ...the infecting agent of epidemic poliomyelitis belongs to the class of the minute and filterable viruses that have not thus far been demonstrated with certainty under the microscope." Therefore?

Simon Flexner simply asserted it "must" be a polio virus killing the monkeys, because they could find no other explanation. In fact he did not look for another source of the illnesses. This was not scientific isolation. It was wild speculation: "...not thus far been demonstrated with certainty under the microscope." They admitted this in a December 18, 1909 follow up in JAMA, titled, THE NATURE OF THE VIRUS OF EPIDEMIC POLIOMYELITIS.

The so-called "virus" they were injecting into monkeys was hardly pure. It also contained an undetermined amount of contaminants. It included "pureed spinal cord, brain, fecal matter, even flies were ground up and injected into monkeys to induce paralysis." Until Jonas Salk won approval from the US Government in April 1955 for a polio vaccine, no scientific proof of existence of a virus causing poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis as it was commonly known, had been proven. That is the case to this day. The medical world all took Flexner's word that it "must" be a virus.

Rockefeller Institute, Flexner and the American Medical Association

The Rockefeller Institute was founded from the Standard Oil fortune of John D. Rockefeller in 1901, to be America's first biomedical institute. It was modelled on France's Pasteur Institute (1888) and Germany's Robert Koch Institute (1891). Its first Director, Simon Flexner, played a pivotal and most criminal role in the evolution of what became approved American medical practice.

The Rockefeller goal was to completely control American medical practice and transform it into an instrument, at least initially, for promotion of medical drugs approved by the Rockefeller interests. By then they were looking to monopolize medical drugs produced from their petroleum refining, as they had done with oil.

As Rockefeller Institute head, Simon Flexner, was publishing his inconclusive but highly acclaimed studies on polio, he arranged for his brother, Abraham Flexner, a school teacher with no medical background, to head a joint study by the American Medical Association (AMA), the Rockefeller General Education Board, and the Carnegie Foundation founded by Rockefeller's close friend Andrew Carnegie.

The 1910 study was titled, The Flexner Report, and its ostensible purpose was to investigate the quality of all US medical schools. The outcome of the report was, however, predetermined. Ties between the well-endowed Rockefeller Institute and the AMA went through the corrupt AMA head, George H. Simmons.

Simmons was also the editor of the influential Journal of the American Medical Association, a publication delivered to some 80,000 doctors across America. He reportedly wielded absolute power over the doctors' association. He controlled the rising ad revenues for drug companies to promote their drugs to AMA doctors in his journal, a highly lucrative business.

He was a key part of the Rockefeller medical coup that was to completely redefine acceptable medical practice away from remedial or preventive treatment to use of often deadly drugs and expensive surgeries. As head of the AMA Simmons realized that the competition from a proliferation of medical schools, including then-recognized chiropractic, osteopathy, homeopathy and natural medicine, was lessening income of his AMA doctors, as the number of medical schools had increased from around 90 in 1880 to over 150 in 1903.

Abraham Flexner, former headmaster of a private school, toured various US medical schools in 1909 and recommended that fully half of the 165 medical schools be closed, as what he defined as "sub-standard." This reduced competition from other approaches to healing diseases. They ruthlessly targeted then-widespread naturopathic medical schools, chiropractic ones, osteopaths as well as independent allopathic schools unwilling to join the AMA regime.

Then Rockefeller money went to the select schools with a proviso that professors be vetted by the Rockefeller Institute and the curriculum focus on drugs and surgery as treatment, not prevention, nor nutrition, nor toxicology as possible causes and solutions. They had to accept Pasteur's germ theory of disease, which claims one germ to one disease reductionism. Rockefeller-controlled media launched a coordinated witch-hunt against all forms of alternative medicine, herbal remedies, natural vitamins and chiropractic – anything not controlled by Rockefeller patented drugs.

By 1919 the Rockefeller General Education Board and the Rockefeller Foundation had paid out more than $5,000,000 to Johns Hopkins, Yale and Washington University in St. Louis medical schools. In 1919 John D. Rockefeller granted another $20,000,000 in securities, "for the advancement of medical education in the United States." That would be comparable to about $340 million today, a huge sum. In short the Rockefeller money interests had hijacked American medical education and medical research by the 1920's.

Creating Virology

This medical takeover, backed by the most influential doctors' organization, the AMA, and its corrupt head, Simmons, allowed Simon Flexner to literally create modern virology under Rockefeller rules. The highly controversial Thomas Milton Rivers, as director of The Rockefeller Institute's virology laboratory, established virology as an independent field, separate from bacteriology, during the 1920s. They realized they could manipulate far easier when they could claim deadly pathogens that were invisible germs or "viruses." Ironically virus comes from Latin for poison.

Virology, a reductionist medical fraud, was a creation of the Rockefeller medical cabal. That highly important fact is buried in the annals of medicine today. Diseases such as smallpox or measles or poliomyelitis were declared caused by invisible pathogens called specific viruses. If scientists could "isolate" the invisible virus, theoretically they could find vaccines to protect people from harm. So their theory went.

It was a huge boon for the Rockefeller cartel of pharmaceutical companies, which at the time included American Home Products which falsely promoted drugs with no proof of effect, such as Preparation H for Hemorrhoids, or Advil for pain relief; Sterling Drug, which took over the US assets including Aspirin of German Bayer AG after World War I; Winthrop Chemical; American Cyanamid and its subsidiary Lederle Laboratories; Squibb and Monsanto.

Soon virus researchers at the Rockefeller Institute, in addition to claiming discovery of the poliomyelitis virus, claimed to discover the viruses that caused smallpox, mumps, measles and yellow fever. Then they announced "discovery" of preventive vaccines for pneumonia and yellow fever. All of these "discoveries" announced by the Institute proved false.

With the control of the research in the new area of virology, the Rockefeller Institute, in collusion with Simmons at AMA and his equally corrupt successor, Morris Fishbein, could promote new patented vaccines or drug "remedies" in the influential AMA journal that went to every member doctor in America. Drug companies refusing to pay for ads in the AMA journal were blackballed by the AMA.

Controlling Polio Research

Simon Flexner and the highly-influential Rockefeller Institute succeeded in 1911 in having the symptoms that were being called poliomyelitis to be entered into the US Public Health Law as a "contagious, infectious disease caused by an airborne virus." Yet even they admitted they had not proven how the disease enters the body of humans. As one experienced doctor pointed out in a medical journal in 1911, "Our present knowledge of the possible methods of contagion is based almost entirely upon the work done in this city at the Rockefeller Institute."

In 1951 Dr. Ralph Scobey, a critic of the Rockefeller rush to judgment on polio contagion, noted, "This of course placed reliance on animal experiments rather than on clinical investigations..." Scobey also pointed to the lack of proof poliomyelitis was contagious: "...children afflicted with the disease were kept in general hospital wards and that not a single one of the other inmates of the wards of the hospital was affected with the disease."

The general attitude at that time was summed up in 1911: "It seems to us despite the lack of absolute proof, that the best interests of the community would be conserved by our regarding the disease from a contagious standpoint." (sic).

By having poliomyelitis symptoms classified as a highly contagious disease caused by an invisible, alleged exogenous or external virus, the Rockefeller Institute and the AMA were able to cut off any serious research for alternative explanations such as exposure to chemical pesticides or other toxins, to explain the seasonal outbreaks of illness and paralysis, even death, mostly in very young children. That was to have fatal consequences lasting to the present.

Why It Matters

Over a century ago the world's richest man, oil baron John D. Rockefeller, and his circle of advisors set about to completely reorganize how medicine was practiced in the USA and the rest of the world. The role of the Rockefeller Institute and figures like Simon Flexner literally oversaw the invention of a colossal medical fraud around claims that an invisible contagious extraneous germ, the polio virus, caused acute paralysis and even death in young people.

They politically banned any efforts to link the disease to toxin poisoning, whether from DDT or arsenic pesticides or even contaminated vaccine poisoning. Their criminal project included intimate cooperation with the leadership of the AMA and control of the emerging drug industry, as well as of medical education.

The same Rockefeller group financed Nazi eugenics at the Kaiser Wilhelm Institutes in Germany in the 1930s as well as the American Eugenics Society. In the 1970s they financed the creation of patented GMO seeds which were all developed by the group of Rockefeller chemical pesticide companies — Monsanto, DuPont, Dow.

Today this control of public health and the medical industrial complex is exercised by David Rockefeller's protegé and eugenics advocate, Bill Gates, self-appointed czar over the WHO and world vaccines. Dr Tony Fauci, head of NIAID, dictates vaccine mandates without evidence.

The fraud behind the polio virus scandal after World War II has been refined with use of computer models and other ruses today, to advance one alleged deadly virus after the other, from Covid19 to Monkeypox to HIV.

As with polio, none of those has been scientifically isolated and proven to cause the diseases claimed. None.

The same tax-free Rockefeller Foundation today, posing as a philanthropic charity, is at the heart of the global medical tyranny behind covid19 and the eugenics agenda of the World Economic Forum Great Reset.

Their poliomyelitis virus model helped them create this dystopian medical tyranny. We are told, "trust the science."

Virus Mania

Under the guise of combating germs, the allopathic regime has created toxic pharmaceutical medications and disease-causing vaccines that the majority of Americans believe helps them ward off or lessen the impact of viruses, bacteria, germs, pathogens and parasites, but nothing is further from the truth.

In fact, the medical protocol, as described in the book Virus Mania, is to literally sicken and kill the patients, but the doctors believe that if they don't promote and prescribe under this model, they will get legally blamed for sickness and death of their patients. In other words, the practice of prescribing pharmaceuticals and administering vaccinations is MALPRACTICE in and of itself.

Louis Pasteur, who "discovered" the principles of vaccination, based everything on a flawed model of "germ theory" that holds no water today.

French chemist and microbiologist Louis Pasteur lived from 1822 until 1895. He is known as the "father of bacteriology" and "germ theory." Over time, his germ theory became the foundation of brewing fear-mongering in order to sell the world on "vaccinations" that were never proven safe or effective, despite faulty experiments and faked/manipulated clinical trials. Epidemics of all sorts were then invented to push million and billion-dollar profit models that only made patients sick, sicker and deathly ill, hence the term "virus mania."

Today, modern medicine, a.k.a. Western Medicine, uses indirect lab tools, including polymerase chain reaction (PCR) tests and antibody tests, that are worthless in detecting viruses. This has propagated the entire coronavirus pandemic, identifying the flu, tuberculosis (TB) and other infections as COVID-19, when they most certainly are not. Both the seasonal flu and TB have paralleled symptoms to the Fauci Flu, including difficulty breathing, fever, congestion and more.

Bacterial infections are also being identified, through faulty testing, as the pandemic virus. This is generating much fear, which is the main goal of the medical industrial complex, because that sells the majority of the populace on getting "vaccinated" with these experimental, dangerous, ineffective and defective clot-shot injections.

From the highly corrupt JAMA of the AMA to the faked and falsified clinical trials of Pfizer today, the mass media and Big Pharma have created virus mania

Over a century ago, the Journal of the American Medical Association and the head of the AMA were rubber stamping (green lighting) all the dangerous, lab-concocted pharmaceutical (patentable) medications while calling all natural (widely available, affordable) remedies "quack" medicine. Today, nothing has changed. The media is much more powerful and is run by the biggest pharmaceutical conglomerates ever. The public is entirely misled about illnesses, prescription drugs, stressful lifestyles and malnutrition, just like in the past.

Western Medicine cites fake studies, altered studies, and scripted studies that fit their agenda, while still calling the failed scientists of the past heroes and saviors. Scientists who support this failed model of medicine are awarded Nobel prizes and Pulitzer prizes for supporting a false narrative and pretending to have invented waccines and medicines that save society from "deadly" germs, epidemics and pandemics.

Meanwhile, the TV, newspapers, and shilling websites tote the line for pharma's evil tactics, promoting everything from blood-clotting gene therapy injections to kidney-decimating Remdesivir prescriptions, to choke-you-to-death in 4-days respirators for Fauci Flu.

Americans witnessed the same "formula" for promoting the useless polio vaccine, where the fear-mongering press and CDC convinced the majority of Americans they (and their children) would become paralyzed for life if they caught polio, so they would all get vaccinated. Yet, the pathogenicity of such viral agents has never been proven, it's all just smoke and mirrors presented by a corrupt medical establishment that makes billions of dollars lying and deceiving the masses.

Virus Mania authors called 'BS' about the COVID-19 pandemic before it ever even began

The original Virus Mania book actually came out BEFORE the SARS Coronavirus scamdemic even began, explaining in depth how the medical industry invents epidemics and pandemics so they can bankroll billions of dollars in profits at patients' expense. The book is very thorough and fact based, with over 800 footnotes and scientific, evidence-based research to back up all the statements.

The doctors and scientists who authored Virus Mania debunk the popular notions that most epidemics and pandemics are caused by a virus, while explaining how it's really the pharmaceutical medications, vaccines and stress that cause the majority of sicknesses incurred by the populace today.

Yes, we are still in the "Dark Ages" when it comes to treating Americans with medicine that prevents or lessens the impact of "germs." It's really weaponized medicine, not weaponized viruses, that are "attacking" all these people. Take heed of this prolific book that may save your life as well as your loved ones.
