Almost everyone notices the gigantic uptick of young, healthy adults in the prime of life falling dead. Almost everyone notices, but almost no one wants to connect the dots. Now we read the statistics regarding the record numbers of infants who are unexpectedly dying.

Writing for SlayNews.com Frank Bergman reports:

Newly released CDC data shows that death rates for American babies spiked massively in 2022.

The surge marks the first jump in infant mortality rates in twenty years.

The surge in deaths for children under the age of 1 started in 2022, the year after Covid mRNA shots were rolled out for public use.

In June 2022, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) expanded the approval for Covid mRNA injection to be used on babies and toddlers aged 6 months to 5 years old.

According to data released by the CDC, more than 20,500 babies died in 2022 before the age of 1.

The final records show that, overall, there were 5.6 infant deaths for every 1,000 live births, a 3% increase from the year before.

Infant mortality in the US has been generally trending down since at least 1995, when consistent tracking started.

However, 2022 was the first time there was a statistically significant increase since 2002, according to the CDC's National Center for Health Statistics.

Experts are warning that any increase in infant deaths is cause for concern.

Amanda Jean Stevenson, a demographer and assistant professor of sociology at the University of Colorado Boulder, is among those raising the alarm after reviewing the CDC data.

“Infant health is one of the most important public health indicators that we have,” Stevenson said.

“The fact that [infant mortality rates] are not continuing to decrease is a very big deal.

“Even flat infant mortality rates are not good.

“We need to see these numbers going down – and fast – because they are far too high.”

The CDC report makes no mention of the Covid mRNA injections which were first administered to infants in 2022.

As Slay News has reported, multiple studies have now linked Covid shots to surging health complications and sudden deaths among children.

A major new study has finally confirmed the cause of soaring heart failure cases among children that are being reported all around the world.

Since early 2021, there has been a global surge in reports of children suffering heart failure and cardiac-related deaths.

The once-rare phenomenon has become almost commonplace in the post-Covid era.

As Slay News has been reporting, cases of cardiac-related deaths and heart failure such as myocarditis and pericarditis have increased dramatically over the past three years.

Myocarditis and pericarditis are inflammatory conditions of the heart and are generally considered to be rare, especially among children.

Severe cases can lead to serious complications and even death.

Both conditions are known side effects of the Covid mRNA shots.

A group of prominent Canadian medical doctors and scientists has just held a press conference to warn the public about a staggering spike in child deaths.

The doctors issued an emergency warning over an “alarming 3000% increase in unexplained child deaths.”

The report above is just another reason why the Covid shots have been dubbed “death shots.”

The total number of deaths and injuries associated with the experimental Covid shots will never be fully known, mainly because the medical establishment, government and media refuse to honestly evaluate this tragic phenomenon and inform the public. All three institutions—and let’s not forget the religious and business establishments—are unwilling to accept any responsibility for the policies, edicts and mandates associated with the Covid narrative that they forced upon the public, which almost everyone now knows were based on lies.

And now we learn from the above report that the most helpless and innocent among us—our infants—have died in record numbers since the Covid vax rollout.

I seriously don't know how so many otherwise good people can ignore the myriad injustices and nefarious activities that were perpetrated under the rubric of saving people from a flu virus.

But I do know that there are only a handful of congressmen and senators from both parties in Washington, D.C., that are NOT totally bought and paid for by AIPAC. Ditto for most state governors.

I know that most evangelical pastors and churches are living in the Old Testament and believe that Benjamin Netanyahu is King David, and the Palestinian people are Philistines (or Amalekites or Canaanites or Gergashites or Hivites or any other "ite" you want to name).

And I know that all of the major institutions in this country willingly and enthusiastically submitted to the tyranny of the Covid narrative and for three years turned the United States into a facsimile of Communist China and North Korea.

But all our national evangelical leaders can say to America is, "The Rapture is about to happen."

But what if the "Rapture" doesn't happen, Pastor Jeffress? Or what if the "Rapture" is 50 years away? Brother Jeffress, you're old enough to remember hearing preachers say the "Rapture" would take place 50 years ago. What if your eschatology is a bunch of Scofield baloney, and there is NO pre-Second Coming "Rapture?"

With or without a "Rapture," where is the call for national repentance to our members of Congress, to our President (including Donald Trump) and Vice President, to our state governors and members of our state legislatures? Where are men and women in business, medicine, education, finance, religion and journalism who have the courage to simply tell the truth?

Have you noticed that these evangelicals who are passively waiting around for the "Rapture" haven't quit their jobs? They haven't stopped buying new cars, new furniture and new houses, have they? They haven't stopped consulting with their stockbrokers about where to invest all this money that they are not going to need because the "Rapture" is about to take place, have they? Yet, as they wait around for the "Rapture," every foundational principle upon which America was built and upon which America is sustained is collapsing in front of their very eyes.

And still hardly anyone in Christian leadership has the courage to risk even the smallest things to stand up and tell the truth—the truth about the Covid narrative, the truth about Ukraine, the truth about Zionism, the truth about AIPAC, the truth about Cyrus Scofield and the "Rapture" cult he created, the truth about America's warfare state or the truth about America's plunge into spiritual idolatry.

“Why are church leaders so timid?” you ask. There are many reasons, but I believe the biggest one is a desire to make their preaching palatable and pleasing to men—even the most carnal of men. Read the preaching of the Early Church apostles and leaders in the Book of Acts. Read their sermons. Then after reading the preaching in the Book of Acts, listen to the preaching of the average pastor in America today. You’ll quickly see the giant chasm that exists between the preaching in the New Testament and the preaching in modern pulpits.

In his commentary on Acts 12, Matthew Henry summed up the glaring weakness in America today in one sentence:

Those make themselves an easy prey to Satan who make it their business to please men.

If America’s pastors were more concerned about telling the truth and less concerned about ingratiating themselves with the Republican Party, we wouldn’t have to worry about political parties.

I tell you, folks: It’s getting harder and harder to write these columns.

I’m watching my country—including the pastors and Christians in my country—embrace and endorse the genocidal mass murder of an entire people. I’m watching my country—including the pastors and Christians in my country—salivate and cheer for war (even nuclear war) with Russia. I watched my country—including the pastors and Christians in my country—enforce a medical tyranny upon its citizens that has resulted in untold damage and death, including a record number of deaths among our most innocent, precious little ones.

As I read the report above, I was reminded of the words of Christ as recorded by Dr. Luke:

It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones. (Luke 17:2)

I wonder if, in the great universe of God’s omnipotent recompense, the record number of America’s infants dying in their cribs is divinely commensurate to the record number of Palestinian babies America has killed by supplying Israel with the bombs and missiles used to murder those precious little ones.
